THE FSO IS MAKING A DIFFERENCE WITH FAMILIES

The Camden County Family Support Organization, as part of the statewide FSO data collection initiative, has been collecting and analyzing the results of the John Lyons Assessment tool, The Family Needs and Strengths Assessment (FANS). The staff of the FSO evaluates the families' needs and strengths, and plans their course of action accordingly to reduce each families needs that pertain to the child's recovery and the family's health. Using ETO software, Efforts to Outcomes, the FSO is able to see how families are improving over time from their initial point of entry, ending with their transition out of the FSO. Our goal is to empower families to care for their children.

The chart below displays four of the 15 areas of evaluation, from entry to exit. The graph shows a reduction of need over time. The FSO identifies the needs and connects the families to resources, discusses problem solving techniques and identified support services that ultimately improve the quality of life in the home and enable families to manage their child's needs independently.

MERGED FAMILY SERVICES OF WESTAMPTON, BURLINGTON AND STEININGER OF CHERRY HILL

Both private, nonprofit behavioral health agencies provide services to families and individuals who struggle with mental illness. The combination of the two companies, is now called Twin Oaks Community Services. It is expected to be one of New Jersey's largest and most comprehensive human services providers, according to officials. "From day one, our vision was to create a state-of-the-art, highly competitive organization integrating the best of both agencies while extending our reach into the human service community," Family Service President and CEO Bob Pekar said. "Our new name reflects the qualities of the mighty oak, which has deep roots, many branches, and as a work of nature continues to grow and reach the highest heights."

The new company will offer more than 90 behavioral health programs for vulnerable adults, children and families in nine counties.

Programs will include group homes, in-home services, case management, day treatment, foster care, adoption support, outpatient and partial care services, crisis stabilization services, and special-needs supportive housing.

STANDARD 9 CONCENTRATION
For Continuing High School Seniors

The STANDARD 9 concentration offered by Y.A.L.E school provides comprehensive preparation for continuing high school seniors making the transition to the workplace or higher education. Students identify strengths, address transition needs and develop the skills for success after high school. Within the dynamic context of the revised New Jersey Core Curriculum Content Standards for 21st century life and careers, the S9 concentration promotes measurable progress in all mandated IDEA domains. A coordinated set of activities, including experiences, complement formal classroom instruction. A complete transition team supports individuals with the following characteristics:

- Current high school students age 18-21
- Asperger’s Disorder, High-Functioning Autism, Non-verbal Learning Disabilities and Co-existing Conditions
- Completed academic requirement for graduation
- Further progress needed toward IEP goals and objectives to achieve success in the workplace or higher education

UNIFIED CARE MANAGEMENT ORGANIZATION

The Department of Children and Families (DCF) is establishing a Unified Care Management Organization (Unified CMO) located in Cumberland, Gloucester and Salem Counties, Hudson County, Passaic County and Bergen County.

Unified CMO’s are defined as organization’s solely focused on providing wraparound care management services and community resource development. The Unified CMO’s will serve children, youth and young adults, as well as their families/caregivers with high and moderate level of care coordination needs that are currently served by the local Care Management Organization (CMO) and Youth Care Management (YCM) agencies in each county.

The focus of these entities is to ensure the best and most appropriate services for youth served by the New Jersey System of Care.

PARENTING CORNER

Dear FSO,

I have a 6 year son diagnosed with ADHD. He does well in school, but at home, he is very disrespectful and destructive. I’m having a hard time using “time-out” as a punishment because of his diagnosis, and I’m running out of things to give him if he promises to be good. What are some age appropriate consequences and rewards for a child his age?

Anonymous Mother

Dear Anonymous Mother,

I understand your concern and many parents struggle with the same challenge. Children his age are interested in spending time with parents and other adults. They are beginning to establish peer relationships, but often need some Adult Support. Time frames should be relatively short for both consequences and rewards, as children aren’t generally able to work for long-term goals. Examples of some consequences can be: going to bed early, losing computer, TV or game time, loss of one-to-one time with parent(s) or sibling. Remember to keep the time frame short. You’re going to bed a half an hour early today or no television for 30 minutes (usually enough time for them to miss one show). Rewards are just as important. Some examples: additional time for television, games, or computer, taking a trip to a playground, earning stickers or tokens, Staying up a little later. These techniques may be hard to implement at first, but as time goes on, he’ll learn that his behavior has consequences and he’ll know exactly what to expect.

Please email us your question or problem regarding your child, his/her school, or provider services at mandi.aviles@camdenfso.org. You may also call our Warm Line at 856-662-2600.

WHAT'S GOING ON AT THE FSO

ESSENTIAL COMPONENTS OF THE IEP

Learn What Every IEP Must Contain

This interactive workshop provides participants with a description of the essential components of an IEP. As a result of this workshop, you will be able to read and understand an IEP document, effectively participate in IEP meetings and improve your ability to address IEP concerns/issues in a proactive and positive way.

Participants are encouraged to bring their own IEP document to review during this session. Information and strategies will be provided to assist in understanding it's components.

JUNIOR YOUTH PARTNERHSIP

The Junior Youth Partnership 6 week program was approved to run for an additional 6 weeks beginning Wednesday, March 21st at 6pm.

The 6 week program began mid-January and drew in 7 youth participant's. Senior Youth Partnership leaders led the group in interactive games and activities providing junior youth a chance to gain leadership and social skills. From game circuits to discussions about healthy communication, each week junior youth were engaged in taking leadership roles.

The program concluded with a celebration ceremony, honoring the participants with specific certificates of excellence including Most Improved Behavior, Best Team Player, etc. Parents were able to hear words of praise from Youth Coach Peter Burgos as he presented each award to the Junior Youth.

RUTGERS STREET LAW PROGRAM

In February, Rutgers Street Law Program provided our Youth Partnership with two workshops. Two law students , Young and Julie, facilitated discussions that challenged the youth in a debate.

Young asked members to read a story of a teacher accused of abusive actions toward a special needs child. As the debate continued, the youth began to change their mind on which side to defend.

Julie, facilitated a discussion on the first amendment and presented controversial examples of people expressing their right to the first amendment. John, a new youth partnership member, said, "This is really making me think! I'm not sure what to say!"

The Youth Partnership has established a great relationship with the Rutgers Street Law program and we look forward to many more collaborations!

Youth Partnership Speaker's Bureau

Our Youth Partnership is determined to continue fighting the stigma associated with mental health. We have developed a Speaker's Bureau of Youth Partnership members willing to share their personal story of the struggles and triumph they face living with a mental health challenge. In the upcoming months, we will be presenting to high schools, youth groups, and community centers. Our Speaker's Bureau members are also a part of Anti-Bullying presentations for schools.

If your organization would like us to present to your group of students, members, or staff, please contact Mandi.Aviles at 856-662-2600 or mandi.aviles@camdenfso.org.

MENTAL HEALTH AWARENESS WEEK

Youth Overcoming Trauma

Sunday, May 6th - Saturday, May 12th

Join us in sending out the following messages:

- Mental health is essential to overall health and well being.
- Serious emotional and mental health disorders in children and youth are real and treatable.
- Children and youth with mental health challenges and their families deserve access to services and supports that are family driven, youth guided and culturally appropriate.
- Values of acceptance, dignity and social inclusion should be promoted throughout all communities for children, youth and families.
- Family and youth voice is a valued asset in determining appropriate services and interventions.

DID YOU KNOW?

A parent/guardian has the ability to obtain their child's records from PerformCare, the Contracted System Administrator for the NJ Department of Child Behavioral Health. It is a very simple process, just complete the Authorization for Release of Information form and fax the release form to:

PerformCare, Attention Quality Improvement Department FAX 1-877-736-9166.

We suggest you repeat this request every six months, or more, depending upon your needs. As caregivers for our children, it is vital we always have a copy of the record of our child's ongoing (or past) care.

You may also chose to mail a request to:

PerformCare Behavioral Health Solutions

We Ensure That the Family Voice is Heard!

MISSION

The Mission of the Camden County Family Support Organization is to assist families with children who have behavioral or mental health issues in the Child's Behavioral Health Systems. We will ensure the family voice is heard in all planning, coordination and delivery of services. As parents who have experienced these issues with our own children, we will work with the families by providing face-to-face support, offer appropriate education and promote self-advocacy.
